

Get a free SchmartBoard... for doing practically nothing.-EXTENDED

SchmartBoard has started a new forum on our website to answer questions, and to allow SchmartBoard users to share. Last month we decided to give away $10 SchmartBoards for up to 100 different people in return for their posts on the forum to help us jumpstart this new endeavor. We had close to 50 different people post (not including those !*$@& spammers). We'd like to extend this through June for up to 50 new posters. If you post a substantive comment, question or photo in June, we will contact you for shipping information and the $10 board of your choice. 1 per new poster. The forum is at <http://forum.schmartboard.com>. Sign up and post today.

Website Overhaul

The forum, mentioned above, is part of an overhaul on the SchmartBoard website. We have changed the home page and have uploaded a fun new video entitled "You Can Do This". We also plan to make navigating easier, as well as improve the product pages. Bear with us as we make the website better for you.

Current Special While Supplies Last! $10.00

Squawk, Squawk, Squaaaawk! OWI's Flapping Sea Gull mini solar kit will provide an adventure marked by growth in self-confidence and self-esteem. As the builder embarks on creating a kit that looks similar to a sea gull, one will sense a minute by minute attitude change. What first started out to be a box full of parts with a set of instructions has turned out to be a life like creation of a three dimensional wing flapping masterpiece. The Flapping Sea Gull loves the smell of the ocean breeze, but will require the warmth of the sun in order to flap it wings. It's just another of OWI's way to teach alternative energy principles. The suction cup will allow you to secure your new friend in direct sunlight and watch it be your weather indicator. Sea Gull poop clean up not required. No batteries and tools required and only 12 plastic parts to assemble.
