SchmartBOARD Announces Product Donation Program

Program will donate free Schmartboards to needy Educational and Non-Profit Institutions

Fremont, CA (January 10th)-SchmartBOARD, a company that develops electronic prototyping boards, has announced a new program that gives free Schmartboards to education and non-profit institutions to help educate people in electronics and robotics.

The first step is to fill out the application. After the application is filled out, a team of our employees will look at each request on a case-by-case basis. Schmartboard in return, would like to post a photo of the final project online and have recognition of Schmartboard on the organization's website.

Information on the program can be found at:
